

Bio of Robert Mueller

Robert Mueller

Robert Mueller is an accomplished, innovative and entrepreneurial Senior Executive with over 25 years of experience who possesses broad domestic and international experience with widely diversified expertise in General Management, Strategy Development/Implementation, Operations, Business Development and Global Supply Chain creation. Robert has a successful track record of leading company start ups, transformations, and increasing business profits while exceeding expectations in a global multi-site environment.

Robert currently holds the position of President of Mobiltech Global Services.

Previously, Robert held the position of Vice President and General Manager of Foxconn International Holdings (FIH), a subsidiary of the world's largest and fastest growing multinational company in the fields of manufacturing services providers (including CEM, EMS, ODM and CMMS players) for computer, communication and consumer electronics industries. Robert is responsible for FIH DFW Operations as well as global sales and business development for FIH Global Repair Services with locations in Fort Worth, Mexico, China and Brazil. Since the start up of the DFW facility and while under his leadership the DFW Operation was the fastest growing and most profitable business unit in Foxconn.

Prior to Foxconn, Robert worked at Nokia Mobile Phones where he was the Global Strategy Development Manager responsible for global development and alignment of strategies, creation of measures to ensure implementation effectiveness, negotiation with internal and external partners in order to influence a flexible and profitable supply chain.